IN CONGRESS.

Resolution for Belligerent Rights for Cubans in Senate.

Ineffectual Effort to Secure Agreement for Vote on the Bond Bill.

House Found Itself Without a Quorum in Attendance Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. During the morning business in the Senate and when the reports of the committees were called for, Mr. Morgan said that he reported back from the Committee on Foreign Relations a number of petitions on the subject of recognizing the belligerent rights in Cuba, also a resolution offered by Mr. Call (Dem., Fla.) declaring that a state of public war existed in Cuba and that belligerent rights should be accorded to the Cuban government. He reported back, he said, a Senate substitute, two resolutions accompanied by a written report.

Mr. Cameron (Rep., Penn.) presented a minority report closing with a resolution that "The President is hereby requested to interpose his friendly offices with the Spanish government for the recognition of the independence of Cuba."

The reading of the full minority report being called for it was read by the clerk.

Among the bills introduced and referred was one by Mr. Gallinger (Rep., N. H.) granting a pension of $100 a month to the widow of Gen. Thomas Ewing, who died in New York last week.

At 2 P. M. the Vice President laid before the Senate the House bond bill with the Finance Committee's free coinage substitute, and Mr. Tillman (Dem., S. C.) addressed the Senate. Mr. Tillman spoke ostensibly in favor of the free coinage substitute but really in denunciation of the President and Secretary of the Treasury. He was on this occasion a splendid combination of orator and actor and gave the Senators and spectators two hours of entertainment. At the close of Mr. Tillman's speech Mr. Jones (Dem., Ark.) in charge of the bond bill, made another effort to obtain consent to have a time fixed for taking a vote, or for beginning the debate under the five minute rule, but objections were interposed by Senators Morrill (Rep., Vt.) and Hill (Dem., N. Y.) on the ground that several Senators desired to make speeches on the bill. Mr. Call (Dem., Fla.) addressed the Senate in favor of bi-metallism.

At 4.30 the Senate adjourned.

In the House.

The resolution called up to-day by Mr. Brewster (Rep., N. Y.) donating condemned cannon to the Rochester G. A. R. Post, brought so many amendments extending like privileges to other Grand Army Posts that the whole subject was referred to the Naval Affairs Committee.

Mr. Crisp (Dem., Ga.) demanded the regular order and the first call of committees for the consideration of bills in the morning hour for this session was entered upon.

Mr. Poole (Rep., N. Y.), for the Committee on Invalid Pensions, called up the House bill to amend the pension law of 1890 by directing the pension bureau officials to accept as legally proved the death of any soldier, whose disappearance from home without notice of whereabouts has extended over seven years, and offered an amendment providing that no widow should receive any benefit under the law, whose husband left home because of any criminal or unchaste conduct on her part. After some debate Mr. Poole withdrew the amendment.

On motion for the previous question the vote was 77 to 5, and the point of no quorum was made. The speaker counted 137 members in their seats.

"Not a quorum" he announced, whereupon the House adjourned.

AIDING THE CUBANS.

Said that New Haven Men Have Greatly Aided the Strugglers For Liberty.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 29. The Register this afternoon says it has heard from unquestioned authority that there are American citizens here who have given in repeated instances material aid to the Cuban cause. The Register has, it says, proof that men who held leading positions in the society and commercial world, have given their wealth and staked their reputation in the hazardous task of aiding the Cuban cause. Americans alone in this city have subscribed $10,000 for the cause, and have also given 1,000,000 cartridges for ammunition to the Cuban strugglers for independence. The cash gift was used in purchasing arms for Cubans and both the arms and ammunition were quickly shipped from near this harbor.

WAS IT TREACHERY

Which Caused the Sinking of the Steamer Hawkins?

It Is Believed that the Suspicions of Foul Work are Well Grounded.

The Craft Supposed to be in Good Condition by the Cuban Patriots.

NEW YORK, Jan 29. The utmost secrecy is maintained to-day by Cubans in this city regarding the movements of the filibusters on board of the fishing steamer J. W. Hawkins which foundered Monday. It is known that Jose Beneche, Albert Geleate, Capt. Gustan and Victor Gomez were among the unfortunates who lost their lives.

An officer of the Cuban Junta today, one of the leaders, who refused to allow his name to be used, said there were grave suspicions that the ship was sunk by treachery. "One thing," said he, "that makes it look very suspicious is that the ship had been leaking for hours before it was known to General Garcia. The engineer or fireman should have discovered it at once and reported it to the Captain, but did not. The situation is just this: Either the ship was bad and we were terribly defrauded in its purchase, or it was good and there was bad faith among those on board."

One of the facts which points towards traitors aboard the boat is the exceedingly fine lifeboats which the Hawkins carried. It was not expected by whoever gave the vessel its mortal injury that every avenue of escape would thereby be cut off. If this be the correct supposition the result bears out the idea of traitors. Moreover, after an examination of the Hawkins in Baltimore, where she was declared in good condition, she was re-examined in New York. What was found true at the first examination was substantiated at the second, when the Cubans themselves looked the vessel over.

It was not till Monday night that a suspicion of anything wrong aboard the craft arose. Neither the captain nor the engineer made the discovery that there was water in the engine room. One of the volunteers found it out. Men were hustled out of their bunks with hardly chance to put on their clothes. Pumps that shortly before were known to be in good working order, refused to answer the purpose. They were clogged. A resort to buckets was all that was left to the patriots.

Information is received that the J. W. Hawkins put out from Baltimore before heading for New York without obtaining the necessary clearance papers. It is said that Captain Woodrow, who was in command, had been summoned before the collector of the port of that city to answer charges for evasion of the law. The only statement Capt. Woodrow would make was that he had gone aboard the Hawkins as a pilot and the ship was in command of a man named Tinsley, who left this city for Baltimore as soon as he landed her here.

FIRE RECORD.

A Large Grain Mill Burned.

DERRY, N. H., Jan. 29. The large grain mill owned by W. A. Drucker, West Windham, was burned this morning. A large store house and shed adjoining the mill were partially consumed. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the explosion of an oil stove. Loss about $6,000; not insured.

CURTIS' CRUEL CUT.

Denounced Gen. Hooker as a Deserter—Hisses Greetes his Sensational Talk.

BOSTON, Jan. 29. The legislative committee on state house gave a hearing today to the petitioners for an equestrain statute of Maj. Gen. Joseph Hooker to be erected by the commonwealth on the state house grounds. Eulogistic remarks were made by ex-Governor Boutwell, Gen. Walker, Chas. Carleton Coffin and others and the committee was about to adjourn when Col. Greeley Curtis got up and denounced Gen. Hooker as a deserter for resigning on the eve of the battle of Gettysburg, and as unworthy of a statue.

"Three days before Gettysburg this patriot resigned," he said. "When a private leaves the army on the eve of a battle, it is called desertion and the penalty is death. When a general officer leaves in this way, do we reward him with a statue? I hope not. This man intrigued against his superiors. He was a fighting man until he got a command so big that it shook him."

ANTI-SWEAT SHOP LAW

Does Not Apply Where Work Is Not Done in Rooms Used for Domestic Purposes.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 29. The Judges of the New York city court last week decided that the anti-sweat shop law did not apply where the work of making clothing in a tenement was done in a room apart from the rooms used for domestic purposes.

GAVE THEM WORK.

Relief of the Unemployed in St. Johns.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Jan. 29. A deputation of one hundred unemployed workingmen visited Governor Murray yesterday and presented a petition praying that they be given work. The authorities after considering the matter, decided to begin relief work, and today a large number of men were engaged in clearing the street of snow.

The French cable steamer Pouyer Quertier which went ashore at St. Pierre a month ago, was safely towed here today, where she will be docked.

TOOK SIX DOLLARS.

Found Guilty of Embezzlement of that Amount.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 29. O. I. McKee, a member of the well known L. H. Smith Woodenware Company, was found guilty to-day of the embezzlement of six dollars of the firm's money. The charge was technical, brought by McKee's partner, Mr. Smith, who stated that within the last two years $20,000 of the firm's money had been appropriated by McKee. The defendant admitted taking various sums, but claimed he charged himself with the amounts taken.

NO END YET

To the Senatorial Deadlock in Kentucky.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Jan. 29. The joint ballot for Senator to-day resulted in the continuation of the deadlock. The anti-Blackburn Democrats voted for Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner. The vote stood: Hunter, 60; Blackburn, 57; Buckner, 9; Wilson, 1; Brown, 1.

IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

Boston Police Bag Some Villains of the Deepest Dye.

Burglars Drew Revolvers and Desperate Fight With Officers Ensued.

Maps of New England Cities and Burglars' and Safe Breakers' Tools Secured.

BOSTON, Jan. 29. The police to-night captured Eddie Kelley, alias Henry Kelley, George W. Townsend, alias Jack Arthur, Henry B. Lowery and Fred P. Gray, notorious safe breakers and all round thieves known to the police all over the country.

The police had been notified that the men were in town and were contemplating a job. Kelley and Townsend were arrested as they were taking tools from a building on Bowker street.

Revolvers were drawn and a desperate fight ensued but the men were finally handcuffed.

Kelley had a letter from James Dunlap, one of the famous Northampton bank robbers, saying that he had spent nearly all his money and was willing to take hold of any kind of a job.

Later a posse of inspectors arrested other men in bed in a lodging house on Dwight street. They attempted to use their revolvers but the officers were too quick for them. Complete kits of burglars' and safe-breakers' tools were found and maps of several New England cities.

CONSTITUTIONAL QUESTION

Raised in Relation to The Armenian "Concurrent Resolution."

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 29. With regard to the so-called "concurrent resolution" as to Armenian affairs which requests the President to bring the opinion of Congress to the attention of the signatory powers to the Berlin treaty, a nice constitutional question was raised in the House during its discussion and is again raised in official circles as to whether this "concurrent resolution" is not in fact a "joint resolution" within the meaning of article I, sec. 3, of the federal constitution.

If this be so, it follows that the resolution falls within a provision of the third clause of the section referred to which requires that "every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the Senate or House of Representatives may be necessary (except on the question of adjournment), shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill."

It is held by parliamentarians that a bill enacted enters permanently into the statutes; that a joint resolution deals with matters of temporary existence, and a concurrent resolution relates to an affair exclusively connected with Congress, as, for example, the adjournment of both Houses for a longer period than three days, or an order for the payment of small contingent expenses, with no contemplation of bringing in any executive interference. A sharp line is thus drawn between affairs relating solely to legislative matters and those involving executive action. Under the circumstances it is vigorously contended that the Armenian resolution is really a joint resolution and if not signed or vetoed by the President it will become a law by limitation and will go upon the statutes at the end of ten days in default of executive action upon it.

This position is very strongly held by officials of long experience. They state that the mere inscribing of a resolution upon the blank forms used by Congress for concurrent action cannot change the nature of the subject matter and the suggestion is made that the President may take this view and call the attention of Congress to the regular form in which the matter is presented for his official action. The same question as to the propriety of the form applies to the Cuban resolutions reported to-day by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

TIRED OF JUDICIAL DUTIES.

Reported that Judge Springer Would Like a Change.

MUSCOGEE, I. T., Jan. 29. It is stated here on excellent authority that ex-Congressman William M. Springer, Judge of the Indian Territory Court, has grown tired of his judicial duties and is anxious to return to the East. It is reported further that he is an applicant for the position of general solicitor of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

THE DOLLEY TRIAL.

Testimony Begun Wednesday.

PORTLAND, Jan. 29. In the trial of Rose Dolley for the murder of her infant child, testimony began this afternoon. Dr. John Thompson, who made the autopsy, was the first witness. He was of the opinion that the child died of strangulation. Dr. N. Y. Lord testified to the same opinion. Several witnesses testified to the circumstances of the finding of the body and clothing.

A FIERCE FIRE.

Big Buildings in Lewiston Quickly Swept Away.

R. C. Pingree & Co. Meet With a Heavy Loss on Their Extensive Plant.

Entire Fire Apparatus of Two Cities at Work at Scene of Conflagration.

LEWISTON, Jan. 29. At 8.45 an alarm of fire was sounded which was immediately followed by a second alarm, calling out the full departments of both Lewiston and Auburn. The fire proceeded from the paint shop of the mammoth lumber working mills of R. C. Pingree & Co. The property occupies the big territory from the Maine Central railroad on the east to the main canal on the west and from the cross canal by the Bates mill on the south to Main street on the north. The fire caught in the paint shop in the line of buildings on the railroad.

It quickly extended, burning the shaving and boiler house and in the south taking in the moulding shop. This line of buildings was nearly three hundred feet long. Then the fire worked entirely up the cross canal, taking in the job shop, the turning and planing mills and carpenter shop. These buildings were 150 feet on the canal and ran northerly nearly 200 feet. A narrow passage way separated these buildings from the big dry house, 100 by 40 feet, and two and one-half stories high, which caught last. This building was full of valuable lumber of all kinds, ranging from spruce finish to the finest woods and finishings.

When stock was taken last an employe says this building contained over 800,000 feet of lumber. All three buildings were burned flat with their valuable machinery, fine lumber, and the finished and unfinished stocks are burned. Among the furniture burned are the furnishings for Biddeford's new city building, counters, desks and shelving for one of the Portland banks, furnishings for a Portland drug store and a large quantity of mouldings, stairwork and other manufactures.

It was an extremely hot fire, the worst ever seen in Lewiston, and in an hour had consumed an acre of buildings.

The Bates' Mill was separated only by the cross canal. The mill had its efficient fire department at work and with its own line of hose completely protected the end of the mill.

All of the Pingree Co.'s buildings contained valuable lumber and material. At present the firm cannot estimate the loss. Lumbermen estimate that the loss will reach $75,000 to $100,000. The insurance will cover but a small portion of the heavy loss. There were forty to fifty men employed, nearly all of whom lost their tools.

A ladder against one building broke, causing two firemen to fall but they were not seriously hurt.

When the big iron chimney fell there were several people in range but they were saved by a pair of ladders. The Maine Central moved their cars down the track to places of safety. The cars were run out by hand as it was so hot that the engine could not get up. A stream on the round house saved it from destruction.

All the fire apparatus of the two cities was in use, and many hydrant streams were put on. The reservoir of the city water works was nearly full and two pumps at the station supplied the unusual drain on the water supply and increased the quantity in the reservoir.

The fire is in a bad district in consequence of the close proximity of large tenement blocks, and naturally caused much excitement. The fire departments were promptly at the fire and had the fire under control in an unusually short time considering the inflammable nature of the buildings and their contents.

The second of the Pingree buildings and large piles of lumber in the yard were saved.

HEAVY EMBEZZLEMENT

From a Boston Lumber Company.

BOSTON, Jan. 29. Since October, 1893, Harry M. Fowle, aged 26, has embezzled $47,613 from the Shepard & Morse Lumber Co., of this city. Nearly all of the cash was obtained on stocks to which Fowle admits to having forged the signature of H. B. Shepard. The lawyer for the lumber company claims the fact will make the banks responsible. Many banks in New England will be affected. Fowle was arrested on the charge of forging the endorsement of Mr. Shepard, as treasurer, on a check for $586 57 made payable to the company. Fowle was employed as ledger clerk by the lumber company, and his skill as a bookkeeper prevented his exposure until now. He says most of the money was used in real estate speculations. Fowle was married about a year ago and has one child. He will be arraigned to-morrow. He is held in default of $20,000 bail.

FOR MR. REED.

Solid Delegation from Louisiana Seems Assured.

Vote in State Convention at New Orleans With Significant Meaning.

McKinley Forces Utterly Routed by the Adherents of the Maine Man.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 29. The Republican State convention met here to-day, all parishes and wards represented. The chairman of the executive committee, as usual in such cases, nominated as temporary chairman of the convention, R. F. Guychard, of New Orleans.

Pandemonium broke loose at once.

F. M. Tucker was placed in nomination in opposition to Guychard and the whole afternoon was consumed in speeches. Finally a ballot was taken and Guychard received 505 votes and Tucker 146. The convention adjourned until tomorrow.

The result shows that ex-Gov. William Pitt Kellogg, who is understood to represent Mr. Reed's interest, completely routed ex-Gov. Warmoth, who represents McKinley.

The solid delegation from Louisiana to the national convention will probably be instructed for Mr. Reed.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

Agricultural Appropriation Bill Completed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. The House committee on agriculture has completed the agricultural appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1897. It carries an appropriation of $3,158,302, about $234,300 below the estimates, and $145,368 less than the amount for the current fiscal year. The bill contains no general legislation. The committee inserted $130,000 for seeds, the wording of the clause being similar to that in the present law, which Secretary Morton declined to carry out. The appropriation of $1,000,000 for the extension and enlargement of the present department building is inserted. This sum is re-appropriated from unexpended balances now in the treasury to the credit of the department.

National Board of Trade Adopts Committee Reports.

The national board of trade to-day adopted the report of the Committee on Finance and Currency by a vote of 48 to 9. The report advocates the establishment of a sound and efficient monetary system as being essential to the restoration of confidence and prosperity and declares that such a system should provide for the relief of the government by the retirement and cancellation of legal tender notes and provide for the revision and extension of the national banking system under conditions which will secure to the country a safe and ample currency to take the place of the notes retired. The report of the Committee on Bankruptcy was passed by a majority vote. This report reaffirmed the approval of the Torrey bankruptcy bill and urged upon Congress its immediate enactment.

The resolution in favor of equipping League Island with naval training, berthage and repair facilities sufficient for the whole North Atlantic fleet was adopted. A resolution providing for the establishment of a "department of trade and commerce," the object of which should be to distribute among the people useful information in connection with domestic and foreign trade and commerce, was unanimously carried. After passing a resolution favoring the steamboat libel law, which provides that Congress shall amend the libel law so that in its application to boats on inland waters a demand based on a claim for an insufficient sum shall not admit of detention of the boat, the meeting adjourned till to-morrow.

A Republican State Convention

—WILL BE HELD IN—

City Hall, Portland,

THURSDAY, APRIL 16th, 1896.

At Eleven O'clock A. M.

Presidential Electors Are Also to be Chosen at State Convention.

Blaine the Statesman.

[illegible] reserve that [illegible] be strictly neutral. During the trouble with Chili in 1891 Mr. Blaine wrote to the President: "I send here a draft of a note to Chili. It may seem rough in the words, but I believe it to be in the highest sense expedient. I have relied on the good sense of [illegible] and I believe we will get more out of it this way than any other." It was the same hand that wrote to Rudini, the Italian Prime Minister, when the latter was threatening to leave our coast [illegible] an atonement for the Italian miscreants killed by New Orleans lynchers: "In a matter of such gravity as this the government of the United States would not permit itself to be unduly hurried, nor will it make answer to any demand until every essential to a correct judgment shall have been fully ascertained by competent authority."

When Secretary Blaine took up the tangled threads of the State Department at the close of Cleveland's first administration, he found our foreign relations in a most unsatisfactory condition. To work out the problem presented to the administration required courage, promptness and consummate wisdom, a broad outlook for the present and an unerring forecast into the future. Those involved relations struck every note in the gamut of human interest, from the liberty of man to the traffic in hogs. Blaine solved with honor the complication in Samoa which threatened a rupture with Germany. Under the auspices of Blaine and his astute Minister to Germany, William Walter Phelps, the American hog marched back in triumph into the German market.

With equal dignity and equal honor, he exacted reparation from Chili and extended it to Italy. If the Clayton-Bulwer treaty is ever formally abrogated, it will be upon the arguments presented in the correspondence of Secretary Blaine, which he closed by the quiet remark, "Whenever, in the judgment of the United States Government, the time shall be auspicious and the conditions favorable for the construction of the Nicaragua Canal, no aid will be needed outside of the resources of our government and people." The irritating dispute with England over the seal fisheries, embarrassed and impeded as it was by the hostile acts of the blundering diplomacy of the Cleveland administration, was brought to arbitration by Mr. Blaine, and though its results were not favorable, the only victory achieved was upon the one point which the Great Secretary injected into the case and argued to a conclusion with consummate force and skill.

The ideas of great men live after them. The prophetic Pan-American dream of James G. Blaine is much nearer realization to-day than ever in his lifetime. Blaine's America extended from the frozen zone to the Straits of Magellan, and he proposed to make its coast line good against the encroachment of monarchism. Commercial comity and reciprocity were only steps toward this goal. Democracy, it is true, has killed reciprocity, but it will surely rise again. The bill now before Congress to incorporate an international American bank is simply an embodiment of the Blaine idea. Events are rapidly welding closer together the republics of the Three Americas, and the vision which enchanted the rapt gaze of [illegible] Blaine may soon become a reality.

Yet was the man greater than his work. Looming up before this splendid record, shining through all the warp and woof of the achievements, was the supreme personality of the generation. His was the overmastering figure which the thousands of his personal friends loved [illegible] and the millions of his unconquered admirers delighted to picture. The entire political ambition and purpose of these millions centered in making Blaine President. Every National convention was but a step in what they believed a triumphal march to the White House. Each successive defeat brought only additional stimulus for the next attempt, because each struggle left a wider circle under the charm of his irresistible personality. His was the genius of [illegible], the flashing intelligence which was at once intuition and argument. He was the intense Americanism and patriotism which typified and embodied the genuine impulse of the American people, tending [illegible] to make up the winsome idol and the matchless leader.

In the [illegible] of the morning of the twenty-seventh of January, [illegible] quenched the light that [illegible] slowly faded from those great eyes, and the magnetic presence of James G. Blaine passed beyond [illegible].

—GIGANTIC HORSE SALE!—

WINDSOR HOTEL STABLES,

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 1st.

One Hundred Handsome Animals!

I shall on the above date and place offer 60 of the finest looking horses that were ever shown in the city of Bangor. It would be great injustice to the other lots that I have disposed of in the last seven years to say that this is the BEST (but they are O. K. just the same), but I will state very truly that a plumper, brighter, fresher lot of horseflesh was never seen in this State.

Workers, Drivers, and Family Horses are in this lot in large numbers. There are also fifteen equines that average to weigh 1,500 pounds each.

Each and every horse is sound and smooth, ready to go to work and thoroughly broken.

They will be sold at auction for the HIGH DOLLAR to the man that bids the most.

EACH ANIMAL AS REPRESENTED OR MONEY REFUNDED.

Summed up in a nutshell I can honestly say that this is the best all-round lot that have been seen at the Windsor Hotel Stables.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

CUBAN RESOLUTIONS

From Committee on Foreign Relations.

A Comprehensive Report Accompanies the Resolutions.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The Cuban resolutions, reported from the committee on foreign relations to the Senate this morning by Mr. Morgan, are as follows:

Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, that the present deplorable war on the island of Cuba has reached a magnitude that concerns all civilized nations to the extent that it should be conducted, if unhappily it is longer to continue, on those principles and laws of warfare that are acknowledged to be obligatory upon civilized nations when engaged in open hostilities, including the treatment of captives who are enlisted in either army, due respect to cartels for exchange of prisoners and for other military purposes, truces and flags of truce, the provision of proper hospitals and hospital supplies and services to the sick and wounded of either army.

Resolved, that this representation of the views and opinions of Congress be sent to the President, and if he concurs therein that he will in a friendly spirit use the good offices of this government to the end that Spain shall be requested to accord to the armies with which it is engaged in war the rights of belligerents, as the same are recognized under the laws of nations.

These resolutions were accompanied by a comprehensive report. Among other things the committee say: "The Congress of the United States, deeply regretting the unhappy state of hostilities existing in Cuba, which has again been the result of the demand of a large number of the native population of that island for its independence, in a spirit of respect and regard for the welfare of both countries, earnestly desire that the security of life and property and the establishment of permanent peace and of a government that is satisfactory to the people of Cuba should be accomplished, and to the extent that the people of Cuba are seeking the rights of local government for domestic purposes, the Congress of the United States expresses its earnest sympathy with them.

"The Congress would have welcome with satisfaction the concession by Spain of complete sovereignty to the people of that island and would cheerfully give to such a voluntary concession the cordial support of the United States.

"The near proximity of Cuba to the frontier of the United States and the fact that it is universally regarded as a part of the continental system of America identifies that island so closely with the political and commercial welfare of our people that Congress cannot be indifferent to the fact that civil war is flagrant among the people of Cuba.

"Nor can we longer overlook the fact that the destructive character of this war is doing serious harm to the rights and interests of our people on the island and in our lawful commerce, the protection and freedom of which is safeguarded by treaty obligations.

"The committee emphasizes the fact that the United States, in the various struggles between Cuba and Spain has always observed in perfect faith all of its duties towards the belligerents. Although difficult the task was performed with vigor, impartiality and justice, in the hope that Spain would so ameliorate the condition of the Cuban people as to give them peace, contentment and prosperity. The committee say this result has not been accomplished.

"The hospitality of which our treaties, the laws of nations, and of Christianity, have extended to refugees has caused, the committee added, distrust by the Spanish government as to the fidelity of the United States government to its obligations of neutrality. This distrust has become a source of serious annoyance to our people and has led to a spirit of retaliation towards Spanish authority in Cuba, thus giving rise, the committee say, to frequent controversies between the two countries."

Continuing, the report says: "The absence of a responsible government in Cuba with power adequate to deal directly with questions between the people of the United States and the people and political authorities of the island, has been a frequently recurring cause of delay, protracted imprisonment, confiscations of property and the detention of our people and their ships, often upon groundless charges, which has been a serious grievance."

Further along the committee say that the temptation to unlawful invasion by reckless persons, when insurrections have occurred in Cuba has given the government of the United States anxiety, trouble and much expense in the enforcement of our laws and treaty obligations of neutrality, and these occasions have been so frequent as to make these duties unreasonably onerous upon the United States government.

On the present struggle in Cuba the report says: "The devastation of Cuba in the war that is now being waged, both with fire and sword, is an anxious and disturbing cause of unrest among the people of the United States, which creates strong grounds of protest against the continuance of the struggle for power between Cuba and Spain which is rapidly changing the issue to one of existence of a great part of the native population.

"It is neither just to the relations that exist between Cuba and the United States, nor is it in keeping with the spirit of the age or the rights of humanity that this struggle should be protracted until one party or the other should become exhausted in the resources of men and money, thereby weakening both until they may fall a prey to the stronger power, or until the stress of human sympathy or the resentments engendered by long and bloody conflict should draw into the strife the unruly elements of neighboring countries.

"This civil war though it is great in its proportions and is conducted by armies that are in complete organization and directed and controlled by supreme military authority, has not the safeguard of a cartel for the treatment of wounded soldiers or prisoners of war. In this feature of the warfare it becomes a duty of humanity that the civilized powers should insist upon the application of the laws of war recognized among civilized nations to both armies.

"As our own people are drawn into this struggle on both sides, and enter either army without the consent of our government and in violation of our laws, their treatment when they may be wounded or captured, although it is not regulated by treaty and ceases to be a positive care of our government, should not be left to the revengeful relations which expose them to the fate of pirates or other felons.

"The inability of Spain to subdue the revolutionists by the measures and within the time that would be reasonable when applied to occasions of ordinary civil disturbance is a misfortune that cannot be justly visited upon the citizens of the United States, nor can it be considered that a state of open civil war does not exist but that the movement is a mere insurrection and its supporters a mob of criminal violators of the law. Then it is seen that it requires an army of 100,000 men and all the naval and military power of a great kingdom even to hold the alleged rebellion in check.

"It is due to the situation of affairs in Cuba that Spain should recognize the existence of a state of war in the island, and should voluntarily accord the armies opposed to her authority the rights of belligerents under the laws of nations."

In conclusion, the committee say that "The Congress of the United States recognizing the fact that the matters herein referred to are properly within the control of the chief executive until the principles of our constitution it becomes the duty of Congress to define the final attitude of the government of the United States toward Spain." It presents the considerations to the President in support of the resolution which they this morning reported favorably to the Senate.

A minority report was submitted by Senator Cameron, favoring the immediate passage of a resolution recognizing the belligerency of the insurgents and in his report he cited much of the history of the late war of the rebellion to show the attitude of the Spanish toward the United States at that time. Whether the resolutions will meet the approval of the President or not remains to be seen.

Acting under them it will be the duty of the President to tender his good offices to Spain and urge her to recognize a state of war in the island and proceed to treat prisoners as prisoners of war. Should Spain do this, then this country can also treat the revolutionists as insurgents and they will have equal rights in the United States for the purchase of munitions of war, the issuance of bonds and bills of credit.

Members of the committee say that unless Spain shows a speedy determination to conduct her warfare against the Cubans after the fashion of other civilized countries she will be brought face to face with the power of the United States exerted in behalf of the Cuban insurgents within a very short time.

THE CHURCH OF ST SOPHIA

It Stands as the Masterpiece of Byzantine Architecture and Construction

Materials were brought from far and near Egypt and Greece uniting with Asia Minor and the islands each contiguous to the capital in supplying their quota of marble for the columns and walls of the church of St Sophia. For nearly six years the work went on with unabated energy Many difficulties were overcome and many experiments were tried and found successful and at length on the 26th of December 537 the church was dedicated amid the acclamations of the populace and the emperor exclaimed in the fullness of his pride Glory be to God who hath thought me worthy to accomplish so great a work I have vanquished thee O Solomon!

The emperor's joy in his church was however destined to receive a rude shock some 20 years later when the apse and part of the dome were thrown down by an earthquake but the same energy which was shown in the building of the church again asserted itself The damage was repaired—the dome being heightened 20 feet to give it additional security—and the church was reconsecrated on the 24th of December 563 [illegible] years after the disaster

The church of St Sophia has never been surpassed in the unity and completeness of its design and in the daring nature of its construction In this building the arch and dome assert themselves and dominate everything, and we have a lightness a spaciousness and a grandeur that had never been reached in the finest of the basilicas and has never been surpassed since During all the centuries which have elapsed since its erection it has maintained its supremacy as the masterpiece of Byzantine architecture and construction and it fixed generally the type on which most of the later churches in the east were based but it has never been surpassed by any of them —Scottish Review

We Enjoy Likeness In Each Other

What we truly enjoy in each other is likeness not unlikeness That is what makes the pleasure of good society There is no rest save on the common ground If I meet a man of different tradition different religion different race different language I am pleased with him for a moment as I should be with a fairy or an amiable goblin but he presently bores me when the surprise of him is over I find that we have no common ground The perpetual yearning of our hearts is for intelligent response, and this can come only from our equals from equality —From "Equality as the Basis of Good Society by W D Howells in Century

The Test.

The Soulful Girl—What is the true test of poetry?

The Poet—Well if one can get a poem accepted that is written on both sides of the paper he may rest assured that it is a good thing —Pick Me Up

Termagant was formerly a quarrelsome person of either sex and only the lack of gallantry of the men has limited the word to its present significance

A foul breath is one of the greatest afflictions that a man or woman can have. An affliction not only to themselves but to those with whom they come in contact A foul breath is a dreadful discourager of affection, or rather of the demonstration of affection. It would probably be more so if people only realized just what bad breath means. Bad breath is one of the symptoms of constipation Some of the other symptoms are sour stomach, loss of appetite, sick and bilious headache, dizziness, heartburn and distress after eating These things mean indigestion They lead to dyspepsia and worse things They all start with constipation, and constipation is inexcusable because it can be cured—cured easily, quickly and permanently, by the use of Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets They are a perfect remedy for this most common of all troubles They give to nature just the little help that she needs They are very mild in their action, and act without any violence whatever In this, they are different from many preparations offered for a similar purpose Sometimes the remedy is worse than the disease, Dr Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are mild, but they are infallibly efficient. They do the work which they are intended to do, without deranging the system in any way. They not only give immediate relief, but the benefit derived from them is permanent You can stop taking them by and by and there is no danger that you will become a slave to their use The druggist who tries to sell you something else "just as good," either does not know what he is talking about, or he makes more money on the other thing If you care more for his prosperity than you do for your own health, take the other thing If you value your health insist on having Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets A free sample, of from 4 to 7 doses, will be sent to any address

A copy of Dr Pierce's celebrated 1008 page book, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," profusely illustrated, will be sent free on receipt of twenty-one (21) cents in one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only

ICE BOATS COLLIDE

While Going at Rate of Thirty Miles an Hour.

PORT ROWAN, Ont, Jan 29 Two ice boats loaded with pleasure-seekers collided on the bay here yesterday afternoon while going at the rate of thirty miles an hour. O. H. Mayber, a lawyer, and Lake Gifford, a barber, were fatally injured, and two other passengers received severe injuries.

THOUSANDS OF MEN

Employed in Strengthening Russian Fortress

Tacoma Wash Jan 29 —Advices from Vladivostock state that thousands of men are employed in strengthening that Russian fortress There are 28 000 soldiers at Vladivostock and barracks accommodations are being rapidly increased The big dry dock, the largest in the far east is being enlarged to dock the largest war vessels On a high hill ten 8 inch guns have been erected commanding the entrance to the harbor from the south and masked batteries have been placed in many commanding positions which a year ago there was no thought of fortifying

The harbor is protected with torpedoes and people are wondering who is the enemy and when he will come

When the Russian fleet left Vladivostock in October 6 000 sailors were distributed among 15 ships in proportion to their size, in addition to their ordinary crews, none of them since returned

This force is obviously not intended for fighting, or sea where it would be worse than useless It is believed that the men were conveyed to some point near Vladivostock to add to its defensive strength

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND

Washington Jan 29—The President has gone gunning again but only for a brief trip With Mrs Cleveland he attended a dinner given in his honor by the attorney general last night and then hastily changing his dress suit for a ducking costume drove from the White House to the Seventh Street wharf where the lighthouse tender Maple was awaiting him It was midnight when the embarkation was made The handsome little vessel at once steamed down the river Her destination was said to be Quantico Va 25 miles down the Potomac, the southernmost point of the Pennsylvania railroad system There were some rumors that the President might prolong his trip by joining the other lighthouse tender Violet at Portsmouth, Va but it is believed his engagements here will preclude this programme being carried out

Dr O'Reilly the companion of previous duck hunts accompanies the President Everything connected with the Presidential departure was managed with the customary secrecy

SANDY HOOK N J Jan 29 At 4 00 this morning four wrecking tugs began pulling on the steamer St Paul which is on the beach at Long Branch There was a good tide in but not a particle of a swell which is very necessary to assist the tugs in getting her out of the sand At 8 30 the tugs had not been able to move the vessel and gave up the attempt after working at her for over four hours and a half.

Said to Have Moved Steamship Twenty Feet

NEW YORK Jan 29 At the office of the International Navigation Company, it was stated that the steamship St Paul was moved about twenty feet at this morning's high tide and her stern was moving seaward about four degrees

This is regarded by the officials as a very important gain and improves greatly the chances of floating the vessel at the high spring tide to morrow, when a strenuous effort will be made to float the ship The wreckers have been straining every nerve to have the ship as light as she could be made and in the best possible position for this tide and everything is now in readiness Should the attempt to float the vessel to-morrow fail, steam dredgers will be put to work and a channel will be cut through which the steamer may be easily hauled to deep water

A LITTLE LECTURE ON WOMEN

In a previous chronicle which dealt with the exploits of Chu Chu a Californian mustang, I gave some space to the accomplishments of Enriquez Saltillo, who assisted me in training her, and who was also brother to Consuelo Saltillo, the young lady to whom I had freely given both the mustang and my youthful affections I consider it a proof of the superiority of masculine friendship that neither the subsequent desertion of the mustang or the young lady ever made the slightest difference to Enriquez or me in our exalted amity To a wondering doubt as to what I ever could possibly have seen in his sister to admire he joined a tolerant skepticism of the whole sex This he was wont to express in that marvelous combination of Spanish precision and Californian slang for which he was justly famous

"As to these women and their little game," he would say, "believe me, my friend, your old Uncle 'Enry is not in it No, he will ever take a back seat when lofe is around For why? Regard me here! If she is a horse, you shall say, 'She will buck jump,' 'She will ess shy,' 'She will not arrive,' 'She will arrive too quick ' But if it is these women, where are you? For when you shall say, 'She will ess-shy,' look you, she will walk straight, or she will remain tranquil when you think she buck jump, or else she will arrive, and look you! you will not You shall get left. It is ever so! My father and the brother of my father have both make court to my mother when she was but a senorita My father think she have lofe his brother more So he say to her: 'It is enofe! Tranquilize yourself. I will go I will efface myself. Adios! Shake hands Ta-tal So long! See you again in the fall! And what make my mother? Regard me! She marry my father on the instant! Of these women, believe me, Pancho, you shall know nothing! Not even if they shall make you the son of your father or his nephew."—From "The Devotion of Enriquez," by Bret Harte, in Century.

THE FASHIONS.

Incipient paniers are appearing upon models for spring gowns

Fancy taffeta silks will be in high vogue the coming season

Muslins, chiffons, lawns of every tint and device, and many other dainty varieties of dog-day attire, now fill the shop windows of fancy dry goods and importing houses of the city

Chine and cloud-like ribbons for trimming spring hats show palm figures on Persian and glace grounds, shaded leaves in sateen broche, iridescent ribbons bordered with velvet and exquisite Dresden patterns outlined with narrow threads of gold or bronze

In Venetian and Pompadour laces chiffon, point d'esprit and silk wrought mousseline de soie, the graceful and picturesque Marie Antoinette fichu is now in the highest favor It forms a most becoming and effective addition to toilets for indoor wear, and during the coming summer it will be used as a model for light, dressy, out-of-door wraps

Many of the elegant costumes now worn are so striking and noticeable that it is imperative to have the bonnet or hat en suite, or there would be a disastrous mixture of colors and fabrics, but by following certain matters in the costume the likeness between the gown and the head-covering can be followed without actually duplicating any of the materials

Notwithstanding the slow progress that the French coat (half fitting and with a seamless back) made during its initial appearance in fashion's realm it has come to be much more generally favored than the ultra-English covert coat It holds its place for the particular reason that it is neither heavy nor confining and while capable of being securely fastened, it can be turned back and left open on mild days, displaying the handsome waistcoat or corsage with its handsome belt and buckle Made of ladies' cloth with facings of fine corded silk the color of the jacket and silk lined like a gentleman's coat (not sewed in with the seams) this garment demands an irreproachable cut and finish not possible in the hands of an amateur

Soft doe kid or finely dressed Suede, is noted upon many of the expensive winter gowns being used for collars, little and large vests cuffs, plastrons bands and also on imported French bonnets A handsome model from a celebrated Paris house worn at the opera this week was made of velvety doeskin and edged with folds of black velvet overlaid with jet a group of blackbirds completing the trimming On the soft pale yellow the rich black silk velvet and the shining sable birds stood out in marked relief A Suede kid bonnet of a rich russet shade was trimmed with a band of Persian beads dotted with tiny faceted gold nail heads and upon the bonnet above the Persian trimming sat a row of brilliant little songsters from Trinidad Another elegant Suede bonnet lately worn at a christening tea uptown, was dyed a soft deep cern and decorated with a row of sable fur brown ostrich tips and a cluster of dark purplish red velvet roses, and in the exhibition parlors of a fashionable milliner was shown a costly theatre bonnet made of interlaced bands of gold wrought Persian galloon and golden brown velvet ribbon nearly covered with glittering Persian beads in changing colors The plaiting formed the crown The brim was covered with a puffing of moss green velvet and the bonnet trimmed with brown ostrich tips gold lace and two damask roses surrounded with shaded green velvet foliage

There are now skirt models and skirt models for the making of stylish and fashionable gowns both for present use and for spring wear No set wooden rule governs the modiste in the exact shaping and adjusting of her patrons' skirts, for they are individualized for each wearer quite as much as an individual style of dressing the hair is followed This is why the matter of dress at the opera at receptions on the promenade and, alas! at church, is now so absorbing and interesting a study Its outlines effects and character change constantly with each devotee of Fashion whose watchword is more than ever before originality The dress sleeve likewise continues to be an important factor of the gown Hungarian cape Vandyke points, Medici Queen Anne and Hugenot puffs are all used to embellish the upper parts of recherche gowns There is a great tendency towards tightening the sleeve above and below the elbow as the recent great width just here was ill proportioned and spoiled the natural outline of the arm in a place where it should be particularly graceful

The detachable stock collars are a very handy bit of decoration They are made of every sort of ribbon in satin silk and velvet, in plaids of every clan in tiny stripes and checks, in cashmere effects and in Persian gauze in chine or Dresden patterns One can hardly have too many of these useful and ornamental trifles, and the cost is nothing if one has a knack of turning a pretty bow Sold in the shops they range in price from 05 cents to $3 each

Smooth surfaced ladies cloth will take first rank this spring as a fabric for elegant gowns for visiting, church and dinner wear Some of these will be made of the cloth alone, others will be elaborated by additions of lustrous corded silk and costly passementerie Tweeds cheviots, and mohairs will form the leading goods for travelling and shopping gowns, made with gored skirts, box coats, or open fronted princesse jackets, with machine stitched edges and handsome buttons, these being the only bit of decoration on the gown

Changeable effects in satin silks, and silk and wool mixtures will continue to be the correct fashion, notwithstanding their prolonged favoritism. Shot repped fabrics are in great use, and will appear in many novel combinations Changeable faile silks, brocaded delicately with self-colored devices, or striped or dotted, make pretty vests and sleeves for fine wool toilets, and also the iridescent taffeta silks figured with small Dresden patterns woven in soft, beautiful colors.

The agitating question is again being discussed regarding the possible fate of the full sleeves that have so long been the rage. It is constantly feared by those who admire these picturesque accessories that they will be abandoned altogether when once they are really frowned upon by Fashion, the excess and exaggeration of this pretty and most comfortable style naturally tending to a reaction—and a radical change. We think that there is not a woman living who desires to see the revival of the skin-tight, torturing sleeves of other days. They were not dressy, neither were they improving, or becoming to either stout or slender women. The newest creations are happy mediums in outline and style, and if only this very desirable state of things sleeve-wards could remain in vogue for years, we think no reasonable woman would ever wish for a change. It is to be hoped that leading modistes will endeavor to keep within the limits of good sense, and that they will strongly urge their patrons to refuse both the old-style sleeve and the hideous balloon shapes, and to elect for what is best, prettiest, and most comfortable in spite of fiats from official sources or flying rumors from nowhere.

Some of the very stylish gowns of covert or Venetian cloth worn at afternoon entertainments are trimmed with a band of Persian galloon with a tiny line of sable fur each side. A similar trimming is round the neck and sleeves, with frequently the addition around the shoulders of falling sable-tails arranged to form a yoke effect. This is elegant when there is a coat, but where the costume is made with a round waist, then the girdle or belt is indispensable, and generally this bit of decoration is very costly and elegant. In the case of Persian galloon trimming on the gown a belt is worn made of rows of Persian gimp set close together, stiffened, silk-lined, and fastened with a buckle of bronze set with mock gems that repeat the colors of the Persian trimming. Again we see narrow fur strips laid on bias bands of velvet, and tiny feather bands are used in the same manner, some being extremely pretty, especially those of shaded ostrich tufts and pheasant feathers combined.

There is not a medicine in use to day which possesses the confidence of the public to so great an extent as JOHNSON'S ANODYNE LINIMENT. Wreckage picked up near Turks Island leaves little doubt that the Maine schooner J. K. Coolidge has been lost. The Portland Press of Wednesday says: About 10.15 last evening Patrolmen [illegible] and Record while passing along Fore street between India and Franklin noticed two men together, and observed one put his hand in the pocket of the other, take out some money, then start to run off. They arrested him and before doing so, saw him drop some money on the ground, and after his arrest picked up $2 he dropped. The prisoner proved to be Joseph McGowan, who is well known to both officers. McGowan tried to bluff the officers, but was taken to the station, and with him the man from whose pocket he was seen to take the money. The man who was robbed gives his name as Lewis Albert Norris, of Orono, who said that before he met McGowan he had $20. No money was found on McGowan, but he was seen to drop the $2. Deputy [illegible] is inclined to think that Norris might have met other parties who took part of his money. The officers are confident that McGowan did not have time to dispose of the money other than the amount he dropped, and Norris may be able to give the officers a clue to other persons he met, and the places he was in before he met McGowan, who will go before Judge Robinson this morning.

One of the prettiest and most social teas ever given at Hammond street church was that of the United Workers and the ladies who had charge of the affair certainly knew how to make such things successful. The vestry was decorated with banquet lamps and tea was served from four very attractive tables, to the large number of ladies who were present. Many who had never met with the society before were gladly welcomed and it is hoped this is the prelude to many more such social gatherings.

Train No. 8 from St. John, due to arrive in Bangor on Tuesday night at 11.10 o'clock, did not reach this city until 4.25 o'clock Wednesday morning. The delay was occasioned by a long wait at Halifax, where the Canadian Pacific train was held for the arrival of an English emigrant steamer which was bringing over a great number of Jews for transportation to New York and Boston. The train left for Boston immediately upon its arrival here, crossing in-bound Maine Central train No. 71, the early morning daily Pullman, at Carmel.

A meeting of the Brewer board of trade was held last evening and there was a good attendance. The committees on advertising and manufacturing asked for and were granted further time. The bridge question was discussed at some length by a number of those present. After voting to hereafter admit none but members of the board to its sessions, the meeting adjourned to Wednesday evening, Feb. 12th.

The late Hon. Theodore Runyon, ambassador to Germany from the United States, was a classmate and friend at Yale of Chief Justice J. A. Peters, of this city. Justice Peters' class was '42, and among its members were Dr. John Hall, the famous New York clergyman, Albert Matthews, the writer, and Hon. Calvin Frost, the lawyer of New York, who died at Bar Harbor last July. The class graduated 100 members, then the largest organization that had ever left the college, and today but twenty of them are living. At the time of the graduation Judge Peters and Mr. Runyon were but nineteen years of age, and while the latter was the youngest member of the class Judge Peters was but twenty days his senior.

Mr. J. W. Riley, the Bangor carpenter, is completing an invention for the protection of men-of-war from the force of the modern projectile from a high-power gun. The invention consists in plates of armor metal eight by ten inches in size, which are to be fastened to the regular armor on the outside. Between the outer plate of steel and the inner body plate of the ship, are to be placed heavy copper springs. The plates will lie close together, but the springs will allow them to slide back and forth under the strain of concussion produced by a 600-pound projectile. A shot striking the side of a ship thus protected would depress the springs under the plate with which it came in contact which would deaden its force and relieve the body plating of the vessel from harm. If everything works well Mr. Riley will forward his plans to the Secretary of War for examination.

THE FILTER QUESTION.

Plans and Specifications Placed Before the Water Board Wednesday.

The Water Board and members of the City Government met yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Alderman's room, City Hall, to receive the plans and specifications from Manager W. B. Nye, of the Cumberland Manufacturing Company, of Boston, makers of the Warren filter which it is proposed to put in at the Bangor water works.

Mayor Snow read the plans and specifications as submitted by Mr. Nye, who was present at the meeting, and the following is the introduction to them, giving the gist of the communication:

We will furnish you fifteen 10½ Warren filters complete, together with material mentioned in the accompanying specifications, delivered, set up, painted and put in complete running order in your works at Bangor for the sum of $19,792, payable as follows: One-third on the commencement of the erection of the filters, one-third on the completion of the erection of the filters, one-third ninety days from the date of the completion of erection.

We guarantee the workmanship to be first-class in every particular and that the plant will yield not less than 4,000,000 gallons per twenty-four hours, of bright, clear, sparkling, white water provided a proper use of the chemicals recommended is made. The city will be expected to furnish building, foundations, to form the settling and coagulating basin by the construction of masonry walls as shown on the plan, to pipe the water to the settling basin and away from the weir tank and to communicate power to the shafting erected by us.

They will also be expected to carry a three-quarter steam pipe to the alum tank. We have the filters on hand, can ship promptly and assure you a speedy erection.

The matter was discussed by the Board but no action was taken at that time.

Pulp and Paper Mills—S. D. Warren & Co., Cumberland Mills; Howland Falls Pulp Company; Rumford Falls Sulphite Company, Rumford Falls; Katahdin Pulp & Paper Company, Lincoln; Penobscot Chemical Fibre Company, Great Works; Hollingsworth & Whitney Company, Gardiner; Hollingsworth & Whitney Company, Waterville; Forest Paper Company, Yarmouthville; Shawmut Fibre Company, Shawmut; Orono Pulp & Paper Company, Bangor, Me.; S. D. Warren & Company, Gardiner; Cushnoc Fibre Company, Augusta; Otis Falls Pulp Company, Livermore Falls.

Poland Paper Company, Mechanic Falls.

Eastern Manufacturing Company, Brewer.

Biddeford & Saco Water Company, Biddeford.

The filter material is composed of a very carefully sifted inland sand principally quartz. The filter building would be built extra by the city and the dimensions of 51x126 feet are talked of as suitable for it.

The Board has accepted an invitation from Superintendent Mullen to visit the mill of the Penobscot Chemical Fibre Company at Great Works, which uses the Warren filter, and inspect its workings. The members of the Board will go to Oldtown in a special car over the Bangor, Orono and Oldtown Company's electric line, in a day or two as soon as arrangements can be made, and will ride from there to Great Works in barges.

The filter will require 8 carloads of sand, 3 of machinery, 3 of tanks and 3 of pipe.

UNWRITTEN HISTORY

In the Life of Maine's Gallant Soldier.

In a recent number of the Rockland Courier-Gazette Gen. Charles Hamlin, of this city, has a very interesting article upon some unwritten history in the life of Gen. Berry and in it is the following:

It will be remembered that General McClellan was relieved of the command of the Army of the Potomac November 5, 1862, and that General Burnside having been put in command fought the disastrous battle at Fredericksburg in December following. He was succeeded by General Hooker and I visited the army then lying at Falmouth in March, 1863, as the guest of General Berry and Col. Varney of the 2nd Maine Regiment. Upon returning to my regiment I became satisfied that its stay in the defenses of Washington was to be prolonged indefinitely.

Being dissatisfied with the rather inactive life this entailed on me, I accepted General Berry's invitation to join his staff as Adjutant General. Upon going to the War Department with his nomination, I called upon Mr. Stanton, Secretary of War, who ordered the appointment to be made and spoke of General Berry in the highest terms. I recall his words: "He is one of the most reliable officers in the field. He never gives us any trouble, and can always be counted on to do his whole duty without being urged. He belongs to that class of volunteer generals destined, if I live, to have the command of an army." Mr. Stanton afterwards told the Vice-President that he intended to give General Berry the command of the Army of the Potomac.

The following is a letter from Gen. S. P. Heintzelman, commanding the 3rd Army Corps, written at Eastonsville, Va., May 11th, 1862, five days after the battle of Williamsburg, to Vice President Hannibal Hamlin, contains something concerning Gen. Berry which has never been published:

"At 2.30 p. m. our first reinforcements from Gen. Carney's division arrived led by Gen. Berry who pressed forward most gallantly at the head of his brigade. He arrived at the critical moment when Gen. Hooker's division began to give way having expended all their ammunition.

OLD STEAMBOAT MAN DEAD.

Capt. C. B. Sanford Passes Away Wednesday.

Telegrams received in this city yesterday afternoon announced the death at about 4 p. m. of Capt. Charles B. Sanford, formerly of this city, at Stockton Springs, after an extended illness. He had been in failing health for some time. He was about 70 years of age.

He was one of five brothers, all of whom were steamboat captains and all had charge of steamers on the Penobscot river with the exception of W. H. B. Sanford who was lost on a voyage from Boston to San Francisco in 1853. Capt. Sanford before taking charge of a steamer on the Sanford line, was a clerk at the office in Bangor. For over thirty years he was connected with the steamboat lines on the Penobscot, the business having been established by his father, Capt. Menemon Sanford, who had previously run a line between Boston and Philadelphia. The line when first started was called Sanford's Independent Steamboat Line.

He first commanded the steamboat T. F. Secor between Bangor and Sedgwick in 1849. In 1850 he was clerk on the 1800 ton steamer Boston which ran between Bangor and Boston. In 1858 he commanded the steamer Menemon Sanford and on May 10th, 1863, he took command of the steamer Katahdin, which was recently burned in Boston.

Afterwards Capt. Sanford took command of the steamer Cambridge. In 1875 the business of the Sanfords changed hands. Capt. Sanford kept a small interest in the new company, the Boston and Bangor steamship Co., and later disposed of his entire interest. He had been living at Fort Point and Stockton Springs a number of years. Capt. Sanford was twice married, his second wife being the daughter of the late Capt. George French. He leaves one son, Charles Sanford, a resident of New York.

Capt. Sanford years ago was known all over the State. He was an extremely generous man of genial disposition. He had numerous friends among the older citizens who will regret to learn of his death.

GOOD CITIZEN GONE.

Death of Mr. Lorenzo A. Bowler Wednesday.

The announcement of the death of Mr. Lorenzo A. Bowler, which occurred last evening at 8 o'clock, at his residence on Ohio street, will be received with sorrow by a large number of friends in Bangor and in other places in this section of the State where Mr. Bowler was well known.

He has been an invalid during a year or more and medical treatment was powerless to restore him to health again. His age was 71 years.

Mr. Bowler came from Levant many years ago and settled in Bangor, conducting an insurance and pension business until the time when he retired from active pursuits.

He had a wide acquaintance and was highly esteemed for his character and quality, which made him a pleasant and profitable companion. He was a good business man and made a success of his business undertakings.

His widow and children, one of whom is Mr. John T. Bowler, of this city, register of deeds, will have the deep sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

The time of the funeral will be announced later.

SERIES OF THEFTS

From Peabody Museum at Yale.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 29. An evening paper prints a story of a continued series of thefts from Peabody Museum, of Yale University, and says the University authorities and local police are doing everything possible to keep the matter quiet. According to the story an investigation fastened the thieving operations upon a young man whose father has been for more than a score of years a valued member of the University corps and a scientist of world-wide reputation. It is said the articles taken include many specimens of Indian and Egyptian pottery, arrow heads, etc., all practically invaluable in the eyes of some experts. By others the loss is estimated from $50,000 to $100,000. Some articles have been recovered. No legal proceedings are likely to follow.

SHE WASN'T GREEN.

A Confiding Maiden From the Country Who Knew a Thing or Two.

She was such a pretty girl — sweet 17 — just budding into fair womanhood. She had been reared among the [illegible] of old Kentucky, and this was her first visit to the city. She was the guest of the mother of her intended husband.

Everything had been done to make her visit a pleasant one, and the [illegible] thing had been moving in a perfect [illegible] of bliss. Charley [illegible] had been her constant companion and [illegible] with the wonderful sights to be seen in greater Cincinnati had turned the little maiden's head [illegible] night Charley [illegible] to the Grand Opera House. The simple village maiden had never been to the theater, but she had heard much of it and determined that she would be as [illegible] as any of the audience.

They reached the theater early. Very few had arrived. The lights were low. They sat and talked awhile. Oh, she was so happy. Just then the electric lights were turned on in their full power and she naively remarked that she had seen no one bring in more lights, but still she was so happy.

The play began. She was entranced. To her poor Rip was the dearest, sweetest, good for nothing old fellow in the world. When the curtain arose on the fourth act, and Mr. Jefferson [illegible] as old Rip, after his sleep of 20 years, she turned to Charley and remarked: "Oh, Charley, who is that old man? I never saw him before."

Charley replied: "Why, that is Jefferson as Rip. He is supposed to have been sleeping for 20 years and has grown very old."

The dear, sweet young thing cast a reproachful look out of her [illegible] eyes upon her intended husband and said: "Charley, I know I am from the country. I know that I am what you city people call 'very green,' but I am not that green. I have watched Mr. Jefferson carefully all the evening, and I know that old man there on the stage is not he. No, I'm not that green."

Then the curtain fell and they went home. —Cincinnati Tribune.

Electrocuted.

Another man [illegible] from [illegible] that [illegible] This time the victim is [illegible] Joseph Nabert of [illegible] who [illegible] himself from his personal experience. He declares that he has, in a way, been electrocuted twice and knows by what authority he speaks. Having been sentenced to die by the electrode, chair and as he was a firm believer that such a doom was painless he submitted manfully to his fate. He was placed in the electrocution chair and the appliances adjusted to his person and the electrical current turned on when he shot off immediately into dreamland. He says he could hear distinctly all that was said about him, but experienced no physical pain whatever. After the lapse of 30 minutes he distinctly heard the doctors pronounce him dead.

He was then taken to the dissecting table, but when the point of the surgeon's knife pricked his breast he suddenly revived and put in a protest against the knife business until he was fully dead. He was then strapped back in the electrical chair and was again subjected to a second shock, which he says restored him again to unconsciousness, and he thinks the second trial would have been a success had not his wife just then poked him in the ribs and demanded that he should turn over and stop waking up the whole household with his unearthly snoring. —Brooklyn Times.
